

Vital treatment of the month

Botulinum toxin - forehead TOTAL

Smoothing before the summer heat wave

The treatment takes place in a relaxed atmosphere with very fine injection needles. Botulinum toxin acts as a neuro-modulator - this means that we can specifically modulate muscle activity in the upper facial area and thus partially or completely smooth out wrinkles.

Our product is virtually free of foreign proteins and is therefore generally well tolerated. However, excessive sweating should be avoided after treatment.

The frown line in the centre of our eyes can decide whether a face appears angry or friendly. Treatment with botulinum toxin can make your forehead appear wrinkle-free again - making a look in the mirror more relaxed.

Even with excessive headaches (migraine), a temporary blockage of the forehead muscles can also have a soothing effect.

The learning effect of no longer tensing up so much in this area and the feeling of keeping the forehead completely relaxed can last. For all those who want to turn back the clock a little.
